

CONVERSATIONS ON EUROPE™

Europe's Jews: Past, Present, and Future?

Tuesday, 20 October 2015 • 12—1:30 p.m. • 4217 Posvar

By all accounts, the number of anti-Semitic incidences—including violent attacks on synagogues, businesses and individuals—has reached a postwar high across Europe. Official responses and those of community leaders have varied, as have explanations. Some point to the re-emergence of age-old European attitudes or populist political parties while others suggest a link to Europe's changing demographic or a reflection of the unresolved Israeli-Palestinian conflict. This Conversation will explore the current situation of Jewish communities in light of Europe's past and with a view toward the future. Center Director Ron Linden will moderate. Audience and school participation (both at Pitt and via remote connection) is welcome. To join remotely, please contact kma69@pitt.edu.

Panelists:

Gunther Jikeli of Indiana University, author of Muslim Antisemitism in Europe.

Ben Judah, author and journalist, who has written on Britain's Jews for Politico and Tablet.

Andrew Srulevitch, Director of European Affairs and Assistant Director of International Affairs for the Anti-Defamation League

David Weinberg, Professor Emeritus, Wayne State University and author of Recovering a Voice: West European Jewish Communities after the Holocaust.

Made possible through generous support from the European Commission

University of Pittsburgh | University Center for International Studies |
www.ucis.pitt.edu/esc

To be added to our flyer distribution list write to europeanstudies@pitt.edu.

